Cops on the hunt for man who sexually abused two children

QUEENS. On Monday evening around 7:10 p.m., a middle-aged man reportedly entered a Jackson Heights apartment building and sexually abused two girls in the laundry room, before fleeing the scene, cops said. The girls were 4 and 9 years old. The suspect is described as a Hispanic male between the ages of 35 and 45, and he was wearing a blue-and-white zip-up hoodie. Police request anyone with information call 800-577-TIPS. METRO/DT

Former cop gets life for murdering wife

NEW YORK. Former cop Eddy Coello, 40, was sentenced to life in prison for murdering his wife, Tina Adovasio, on March 11, 2011, Bronx district attorney Robert Johnson reported yesterday. Coello had strangled Adovasio, stuffed her body in a duffel bag and driven from the Bronx to Yorktown in Westchester County, where he dumped her body.

Strangling was deemed to be the cause of death, but there were also signs of blunt force trauma. She had four children, including a daughter fathered by Coello. METRO/DT

Former bodega clerk indicted in Etan Patz murder

INSIDE EDITION

Pedro Hernandez indicted by grand jury yesterday ◐ Manhattan DA calls evidence against him 'credible and persuasive' ◐ Still, questions about his mental capabilites persist ◐ Body of boy has never been found

Six months after a former bodega clerk admitted to the cold case murder of 6-year-old Etan Patz, he has been indicted — the closest prosecutors have come to a possible conviction in this 33-year-old mystery.

A grand jury yesterday indicted Pedro Hernandez, 51, on two counts of murder in the second degree and one count of kidnapping in the first degree. He was first arrested by the NYPD in May, after a member of his family told police he was responsible for Patz's murder.

In custody, Hernandez told police he lured the boy into a SoHo basement on May 25, 1979, by offering him a soda. He confessed to strangling Patz and then wrapping his body in plastic wrap and putting it in the trash. Shortly after, Hernandez moved from his West Broadway apartment, eventually to Maple Shade, N.J., where he was living when arrested.

Police said Hernandez told his family over the years he had "done a bad thing and killed a child in New York," prompting one relative to turn him in.

GETTY IMAGES

▶ An Etan Patz shrine

His own attorneys have raised the question as to whether mental health issues led him to make a false confession, but the Manhattan district attorney's office said Hernandez's confession will stand.

"This indictment is the outcome of a lengthy and deliberative process, involving months of factual investigation and legal analysis. We believe the evidence that Mr. Hernandez killed Etan Patz to be credible and persuasive, and that his statements are not the product of any mental illness," Erin Duggan, a spokesperson for the Manhattan DA, said in a statement. "The grand jury has found sufficient evidence to charge the defendant, and this is a case that we believe should be presented to a jury at trial." ERIN DUGGAN

Potential prosecution problems

Paul Callan, former deputy chief of homicide in the Brooklyn district attorney's office, said it's unusual for a suspect to be indicted five months after an arrest, and it could suggest some holes in the case.

"It's a real uphill battle to get a conviction in such an old case," Callan said. "Witnesses' memories fade, physical evidence doesn't exist anymore."

In New York, a defendant cannot be convicted solely on a confession. Prosecutors must present corroborating evidence, which could prove challenging, Callan suggested, especially because Patz's body was never found.

"The defense will come in and say they don't even know that Etan Patz was murdered, maybe he was kidnapped," Callan said.

One point the prosecution might argue, he predicted, is that Hernandez confessed the crime to multiple people over the years with consistent detail. METRO/CG

Ex-NY lawmaker Meng admits soliciting bribe

NEW YORK. Former New York state lawmaker Jimmy Meng pleaded guilty to soliciting bribes yesterday in exchange for helping an associate avoid prison time. Meng, 69, a former state assemblyman, admitted in Brooklyn federal court that he asked for $80,000, packed in a fruit basket, to pay off prosecutors and help the associate obtain a lenient sentence for tax crimes.

Rather than fulfill the promise, Meng planned "to keep the money," he told U.S. District Judge Allyne R. Ross. "Your purpose here was to obtain for yourself the $80,000?" Ross asked during the brief hearing. "Yes," Meng said.

Meng faces a likely sentence of 12 to 18 months in prison on a count of wire fraud.

Meng's daughter, Grace Meng, a state assemblywoman and Democrat from Queens, was elected earlier this month to the U.S. House of Representatives. Grace Meng said in a statement that she was "deeply saddened" by the case. His sentencing is scheduled for March 12. BLOOMBERG

LIPA utility head resigns in Sandy's chaotic aftermath

BRUCE BENNETT/GETTY IMAGES

▶ A power line toppled in Long Island.

A utility company head resigned this week, in what could be the beginning of a fallout from blackouts after Hurricane Sandy.

LIPA Chief Operating Officer Mike Hervey resigned late Tuesday after harsh criticism from customers and politicians over the still-ongoing restoration of service from the superstorm two weeks ago.

Hervey's resignation came on the same day that Gov. Andrew Cuomo launched an investigation by a special commission into the state's utilities and their response to Superstorm Sandy. He said the problems exposed by the storm would require a major overhaul of the power industry.

More than two weeks after the storm struck the region, about 45,000 LIPA customers still have no electricity.

LIPA said yesterday it was close to restoring electric service to the last 8,000 Long Island homes and businesses able to receive power, 16 days after Hurricane Sandy.

However, another 38,000 customers, including many in Queens, have yet to be surveyed for damage or may need repairs and certification by an electrician before the company can restore service. Other hard-hit New York and New Jersey utilities had restored power to most customers able to take service by last weekend. REUTERS

Another company facing criticism

Cablevision is also under fire for outages during Sandy. The company has been accused in a $250 million lawsuit of continuing to bill and failing to offer rebates to more than 1 million customers who lost TV, Internet or phone service because of Hurricane Sandy two weeks ago. The complaint, filed yesterday with the New York State Supreme Court in Nassau County, said Cablevision had not met its contractual obligation to offer credits to customers who lost service for more than 24 hours.

The lawsuit accused the Bethpage, N.Y.-based company of instead offering rebates only to its "most favored" customers on a discretionary basis, and only after they requested them. Cablevision spokesman Charlie Schueler said the complaint "misstates the facts" and is without merit.

Dump Trump, petition asks Macy's store

NEW YORK. Macy's is under pressure to ditch Donald Trump-branded apparel after the billionaire mounted political attacks on President Barack Obama in the election campaign. Almost 500,000 people have added their names to an online petition urging Macy's to end its partnership with Trump, SignOn.org, the hosting site, said yesterday. The petition picked up steam over the weekend after Trump, a real-estate developer, repeatedly called for a revolution following Obama's reelection last week, SignOn.org said. By doing business with

Trump, Macy's isn't living up to its own standards of social responsibility, said Angelo Carusone, who started the petition. "If I stood inside a Macy's store and said the things that Trump has said, security would escort me out," he said, describing Trump's statements as sexist, bigoted and mean. While many vendors express political opinions, Macy's merchandise and marketing do not represent any political position, Jim Sluzewski, a spokesman for Macy's in Cincinnati, said in an e-mail. "I question the legitimacy and accuracy of the website and the number of signatures claimed to have joined this petition," Michael Cohen, a spokesman for Trump, said in an e-mail. BLOOMBERG

Cops identify tow-truck fraud

NEW YORK. Operators have been charging "exorbitant" fees to return cars to owners after they were towed, according to the NYPD. The police department said yesterday that cops formed a special group to address tow-truck operator fraud. They have made larceny arrests after incidences, cops said, in which tow-truck operators took storm-damaged cars without permission, and operators then stored them in private auto pounds and charged between $1,000 and $2,300 when the owners wanted them back. METRO/AB

Brooklyn woman indicted for Medicaid fraud

BROOKLYN. Brooklyn District Attorney Charles Hynes announced yesterday that 43-year-old Janna Doheny was indicted on charges of fraudulently collecting $29,000 in Medicaid benefits since 2004. In her application, Doheny had claimed her only source of income for herself and her daughter was $1,500 monthly, prosecutors said, earned from a job at an adult-entertainment establishment in Queens, and that her bank accounts totaled less than $5,000.

But investigators discovered that between 2002 and 2010 she bought five luxury seaside apartments, as well as properties in Bay Ridge, Long Beach and south Florida. Officials say she also had multiple bank accounts with annual deposits in excess of $100,000 and checking accounts shared with two separate men. She falsely claimed to live in Brooklyn, while actually living in Long Island. METRO/DT

Doheny deposited more than $100,000 in multiple bank accounts, prosecutors said. She also bought five luxury seaside apartments between 2002 and 2010, the D.A. alleged.

Locals fight to save boards of boardwalk

Hoping to salvage tropical wood from wrecked boardwalk Could be crafted into a new boardwalk

A bulldozer and boardwalk chunks in Rockaway.

Some New Yorkers are fighting to preserve the remnants of the Rockaway Boardwalk.

The boardwalk, which was largely demolished during Hurricane Sandy, was constructed from a blend of tropical trees that can last three times as long as domestic species and are extremely resistant to insects.

But New Yorkers Cathy McHale and Scott Francisco say the wood is being thrown out, without any effort to reuse it.

"Repurposing is very appealing if the wood has enough life left in it," Francisco said.

Francisco said that bulldozers have already broken a lot of the boards.

"Our plan is to salvage enough to create a section of boardwalk that would be a memorial constructed from the original wood," Francisco said. "But it's probably not going to be a huge section because so many of the boards are broken."

This Sunday, McHale and Francisco plan on gathering a group of volunteers at the 91st Street community garden to begin recovering material.

Quoted

"Our plan is to salvage enough to create a section ... that would be a memorial." FRANCISCO

Alan Solomon of Sawkill Lumber Company, which salvages wood from demolished buildings, said nine blocks of boardwalk are twisted along the waterfront, largely intact.

The Parks Department did not yet say whether the wood would be saved for a future boardwalk or memorial.

"Parks is working closely with other agencies to clean the damage inflicted by the hurricane and identify sections of the boardwalk that can be salvaged," Parks Department spokesman Phil Abramson told Metro. "We ... always look to recycle and repurpose materials when possible."

DANIELLE TCHOLAKIAN
danielle.tcholakian@metro.us

Can it be saved?

Whether the wood can be repurposed depends on how long it has been exposed to outdoor elements. Francisco noted that different sections of the boardwalk could be a wide range of different ages and species, but estimated that the small samples of just one species had been outside for 20 years and would have 10 to 15 years of outdoor life still in them.

All of it could be repurposed, he said. Even the oldest, most exposed wood can be used indoors, or made into park benches or planters, or cut into shorter lengths to isolate the best pieces.

Mystery of why two generals intervened in child custody battle

Former CIA Director David Petraeus and the top U.S. commander in Afghanistan, General John Allen, both recently intervened in a child custody battle on behalf of the twin sister of the Florida woman at the center of a scandal that has engulfed both men, court documents show.

Petraeus and Allen wrote letters in September to the District of Columbia Superior Court in support of the twin sister, Natalie Khawam, as she sought to gain more visitation rights with her son, according to a review of the court file.

The letters deepen the mystery of how two Tampa socialites developed close access to top military officials and raise questions about the specific nature of those relationships.

It is unclear why Petraeus and Allen, two of the U.S. military's biggest names, felt the need to formally interject in a nasty custody dispute of someone they characterized as a family friend.

The court files also provide a glimpse into the connections Khawam had built with Washington elite, including U.S. Senator John Kerry of Massachusetts.

Defense officials said earlier on Tuesday that Allen is under investigation for alleged inappropriate communication with Khawam's sister, Jill Kelley. Kelley is a fixture in military circles in Tampa, where she was a volunteer social liaison at MacDill Air Force Base. REUTERS

Other contacts

Khawam also invoked broader contacts as she sought greater access to her son.

In e-mails with her ex-husband, Khawam wrote that Senator Kerry asked about the son and whether he would be coming to Martha's Vineyard in the summer of 2012.

She also wrote that Senator Sheldon Whitehouse of Rhode Island invited the son to a summer clambake in the state, and that the son "would greatly appreciate attending this family clambake." REUTERS

Mistress had 'substantial' classified data on computer

A computer used by Paula Broadwell, the woman whose affair with CIA director General David Petraeus led to his resignation, contained substantial classified information that should have been stored under more secure conditions, law enforcement and national security officials said yesterday.

The contents of the classified material and how Broadwell acquired it remain under investigation, said the officials. They spoke on condition of anonymity because they are not authorized to comment publicly.

But the quantity of classified material found on the computer was significant enough to warrant a continuing investigation, the officials told Reuters. REUTERS

Petraeus will testify over Benghazi, leading senator says

WASHINGTON. Ex-CIA chief David Petraeus has agreed to testify to Congress about the attack on the U.S. consulate in Libya, but it was not clear when lawmakers would hear from the retired four-star general, who abruptly resigned last week amid a sex scandal.

Senate Intelligence Committee Chairman Dianne Feinstein said Petraeus was willing to testify about the Sept. 11 attack in Benghazi, but the timing had not yet been decided, a spokesman for the California Democrat said. REUTERS

Four-star general demoted for wasting taxpayer money

PERTH. Defense Secretary Leon Panetta, who is in Australia for talks, announced he was demoting a retiring four-star Army general for wasting taxpayer money on extravagant trips and would seek to recoup tens of thousands of dollars from him.

Panetta's decision to strip a star from General William Ward, a former commander of Africa Command, comes as the military is reeling from a scandal involving two of the most powerful men in the national security apparatus.

Although Ward's demotion to a three-star lieutenant general will knock off more than $30,0000 in retirement pay, he will still receive a pension of more than $200,000 a year. REUTERS

Goldman names 70 to coveted partner status

GETTY IMAGES

▶ "A partner at Goldman is probably the most coveted status on Wall Street," said Gregory Cresci of Odyssey Search Partners.

Goldman Sachs Group Inc. named 70 employees to join its so-called partnership, the fewest in the firm's 13 years as a public company, as sluggish revenue growth pressures expenses.

The promotions to partner, which take place every two years, are down from 110 in 2010 and 94 in 2008. Partners, known as participating managing directors, typically receive a $900,000 salary, up from $600,000 two years ago, and a cut of a special bonus pool that's awarded primarily in stock, according to a person with knowledge of the firm's policies.

Goldman Sachs, the fifth-biggest U.S. bank by assets, confers the status on a group of employees to continue a tradition from the firm's 130 years as a private partnership, which ended with a 1999 public offering. The designation places an employee among an elite at a company whose alumni include two former U.S. Treasury secretaries and the president of the European Central Bank.

Among the newly promoted are Jason H. Brauth, head of investment-grade credit trading; Gerald Ouderkirk III, who oversees trading of collateralized loan obligations and catastrophe bonds; Huw Pill, chief European economist; and Anthony Gutman, co-head of U.K. investment banking.

Partners, who hold the most senior roles at the bank, collectively owned about 11.4 percent of the firm's stock as of Oct. 22, according to a Nov. 2 regulatory filing.

Revenue in the first nine months of the year totaled $24.9 billion. BLOOMBERG

News in brief

Israel launches Gaza offensive, kills Hamas commanders

Israel launched a major offensive against Palestinian militants in Gaza yesterday, killing the military commander of Hamas in an air strike and threatening an invasion of the enclave that the Islamist group vowed would "open the gates of hell."

Operation "Pillar of Defense" began with a surgical strike on a car carrying the commander of the military wing of Hamas, the Iranian-armed Islamist movement which controls Gaza.

Within minutes of the death of Ahmed Al-Jaabari, big explosions were rocking Gaza, as the Israeli air force struck at selected targets just before sundown. REUTERS

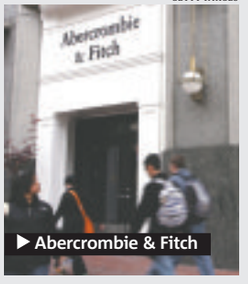
Abercrombie & Fitch shares soar after good results

GETTY IMAGES



▶ Abercrombie & Fitch

Teen clothing retailer Abercrombie & Fitch Co. stunned investors yesterday with unexpectedly improved third-quarter results and a full-year outlook that exceeded Wall Street forecasts, sending shares up as much as 30 percent.

The company got a handle on excess inventories that had sparked a round of discounting that worried investors. It also had pockets of sales strength in places like Scandinavia and China that helped revenue exceed expectations. Even troubled markets like Spain were not as bad as expected.

Abercrombie & Fitch was "being highly disciplined" with inventory management and was working to ensure sales growth outpaced that of inventory, Chief Executive Mike Jeffries said on a call with analysts yesterday.

The company ended the quarter with total inventory that was 21 percent lower than a year ago.

Shares of the company, which hired Goldman Sachs Group Inc in September to help ward off pressure from investors, were up 28 percent at $40 in afternoon trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The stock has lost about a third of its value since hitting $57.56 a year ago. REUTERS

Cyber spies, framed fugitives, politics as usual

A Web of espionage

Congress urged to probe Chinese cyber espionage

The U.S. Congress should conduct an in-depth assessment of Chinese cyber spying and consider imposing tougher penalties on companies that benefit from industrial espionage, a federal advisory group said yesterday.

The recommendations by the bipartisan U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission reflect its stated concern that China has become "the most threatening actor in cyberspace."

In its annual report to Congress, the commission said the most notable trend in Chinese cyber espionage over the past year had been "increasingly creative and resourceful targeting" across government, industry and civil society.

Among these are stepped-up efforts to defeat so-called two factor authentication, it said, referring to the use of a security token in addition to a traditional password. REUTERS

Real life hacked?

McAfee says he was framed for murder

Belize's prime minister urged anti-virus software pioneer John McAfee to help the country's police with a murder inquiry, calling McAfee "bonkers" for recent media statements.

"I don't want to be unkind, but he seems to be extremely paranoid — I would go so far as to say bonkers," Prime Minister Dean Barrow said. McAfee claims he is being framed by Belize poice over the murder of neighbor and U.S. citizen Gregory Faull. REUTERS

'The gates of hell'

Israel kills Hamas leader in offensive

Israel launched a major offensive against Palestinian militants in Gaza yesterday, killing the military commander of Hamas in an air strike and threatening an invasion of the enclave that the Islamist group vowed would "open the gates of hell."

The onslaught shattered hopes that a truce mediated on Tuesday by Egypt could pull the two sides back from the brink of war after five days of escalating Palestinian rocket attacks and Israeli strikes at militant targets. REUTERS

Politics in the House

Pelosi decides to stay US House Democratic leader

Nancy Pelosi told fellow Democrats in the House yesterday that she is willing to run to be their leader again. Seen as a crusading reformer by backers and a reckless liberal by Republican critics, Pelosi, 72, announced her decision later at a news conference at the U.S. Capitol.

"I have made a decision to submit my name to my colleagues to serve once again," she said. Democratic lawmakers said Pelosi, who became the first woman to lead a party in Congress, is a cinch to be reelected House minority leader. REUTERS

Libya attack

Sens seek to block Rice's promotion

Senior Republican senators vowed yesterday to block any future promotion of Susan Rice, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, over her handling of the Sept. 11 attack on the U.S. mission in Benghazi, Libya.

Rice has been mentioned as a possible successor to Secretary of State Hillary Clinton. Republican lawmakers, however, question Rice's initial description of the violence as a spontaneous outburst rather than a planned attack. REUTERS

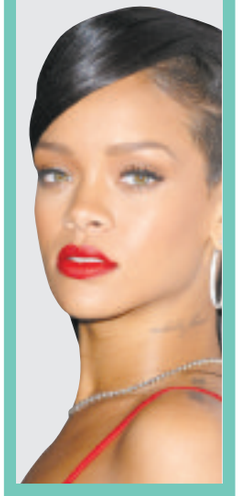
THE WORD

Metro's Dorothy Robinson shares her take on the world of gossip @dorothyatmetro dorothy.robinson@metro.us

Metro+Rihanna

How was RiRi's first night on her 777-tour (seven countries, seven shows, seven days)? We were there in Mexico City last night — one of an exclusive group of reporters — and will have all of the details tomorrow.



Sexiest man alive (the nonmilitary version, anyway)

It's the time of year that housewives and dentist office waiting rooms around the world pant for: People magazine naming its "sexiest man alive." This year's bold-faced and bare-chested winner? "Magic Mike" star Channing Tatum.

Not that Tatum himself necessarily believed it when he got the news, though: "My first thought was, 'Y'all are messing with me,'" he says. "I told [wife] Jenna [Dewan-Tatum] after we'd been in the bathtub washing our dogs because they'd gotten skunked." And as for the physique that helped land him the title, Tatum says it's a work-related benefit. "When I'm not training, I get really round and soft," he admits.

Personally, I can't believe former CIA Director David Petraeus and General John Allen didn't make the cut. With their smooth moves, you'd think they'd be shoo-ins.

Elmo is off the hook

The 23-year-old man who claimed he was only 16 when he had a sexual relationship with Elmo puppeteer Kevin Clash has recanted his claim, according to the Los Angeles Times. The unidentified accuser "wants it to be known that his sexual relationship with Mr. Clash was an adult consensual relationship," a statement from his attorney reads. Clash had taken a leave of absence from "Sesame Street" when the allegations made headlines earlier this week. "I am relieved that this painful allegation has been put to rest," Clash says in a statement. The same goes for Sesame Workshop, the company behind the children's show. "We are pleased that this matter has been brought to a close. We are happy that Kevin can move on from this unfortunate episode," the company's statement reads.

Talking points

▶ Angry like the wolf ...

PETA gets angry at 'Twilight'

The folks behind the "Twilight" series spared no expense for the final film's premiere this week, going so far as to feature live wolves on display for guests at the after-party, according to Radar Online. "Outside the tent before you entered the party there was a really small cage with three wolves in it," a source says. "The handlers were keeping people away and yelling at the wolves to pose for photos like stars on a red carpet." And it comes as no surprise that PETA is not thrilled. "Didn't it dawn on the 'Twilight' event organizers that real wolves do not belong at a party with blaring music and flashing lights?" a PETA spokeswoman says in a statement to the website.

Trump can't stop the Twitter

Offering his thoughts on the presidential election isn't enough for Donald Trump, who's using his Twitter account to weigh in on other weighty matters. For instance, when it comes to "Twilight" co-stars Robert Pattinson and Kristen Stewart and their reconciliation, Trump apparently has little faith in Stewart. "After Friday's 'Twilight' release, I hope Robert Pattinson will not be seen in public with Kristen," Trump wrote. "She will cheat on him again!" The tweet immediately drew the ire of the "Twilight" fan base, so Trump next took his case directly to Pattinson, tweeting, "Robert, I'm getting a lot of heat for saying you should dump Kristen — but I'm right. If you saw the Miss Universe girls, you would reconsider."

Pitt and Jolie's pizza party

Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie know how to show their kids a good time when they visit Pitt's parents in Springfield, Mo. It involves letting them run wild at local restaurant Arris' Pizza, according to Us Weekly. "The place shuts down for the night and the kids raise a ruckus. They jump on tables and even throw food at each other," a source says.

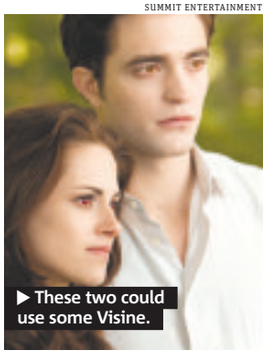
10 REASONS TO HIT THE MULTIPLEX

Must-see

1 'The Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn - Part 2' And so ends the biggest, most poorly acted love story of our lifetime — with vampire husband and wife Edward and Bella Cullen now on a mission to save their mutant spawn Renesme from the evil Volturi, who claim that human-vampire hybrids are illegal.

SUMMIT ENTERTAINMENT



▶ These two could use some Visine.

2 'Anna Karenina' Keira Knightley and Jude Law star in this gauzy adaptation of Leo Tolstoy's celebrated novel about a married socialite who finds herself drawn to an affair with an affluent count.

3 'Silver Linings Playbook' Bradley Cooper stars as a mentally unstable man who finds himself spending time with an equally strange woman (Jennifer Lawrence).

4 'Skyfall' Daniel Craig returns as that charmingly elusive MI6 agent. This time, we find 007's stealthy skills challenged by a brilliantly evil new adversary — ex-agent Silva (Javier Bardem).

5 'Lincoln' And you thought this year's election was polarizing? Our 16th president had a little problem on his hands called the Civil War!

6 'This Must Be The Place' This flick stars Sean Penn as an aging goth rocker seeking revenge on a man who tortured his father.

7 'The Man with the Iron Fists' Wu-Tang Clan's RZA co-wrote, directed and stars in this kung fu caper, co-produced, fittingly, by Quentin Tarantino.

8 'Wreck-It Ralph' John C. Reilly gives voice to the video game villain who sets off to see what life would be like as a hero.

9 'Flight' Denzel Washington stars as a pilot who becomes a hero when he saves his plane from crashing. It soon becomes clear, however, that he had alcohol in his system while on duty.

10 'Cloud Atlas' Tom Hanks and Halle Berry star in this mind-bending adaptation of the David Mitchell book of the same name. METRO

'Vamps' of a different color

Director Amy Heckerling discusses her blood-sucking rom-com and why it has nothing to do with 'Twilight'

GETTY IMAGES

▶ Heckerling

ANCHOR BAY FILMS

▶ Krysten Ritter and Alicia Silverstone are "Vamps."

Edward and Bella aren't the only bloodsuckers in town. Veteran director Amy Heckerling, whose teen comedies "Fast Times at Ridgemont High" and "Clueless" have become modern classics, tried her hand at the vampire genre. But it was never her intention to jump on a bandwagon.

"I mean, I wrote this before 'Twilight' came out and I didn't read the books. … That was a whole other world I'm not a big fan of," Heckerling explains. "I don't know where they live — out in the northern West Coast kind of area — I'm a city person and I wanted to feel what it would be like to just always stay young, to go to school, to have a part-time job, to have friends, to go out and do the things that I think would be fun to do endlessly."

And so we have "Vamps," starring "Clueless" actress Alicia Silverstone and "Don't Trust the B— in Apartment 23" star Krysten Ritter. The ladies play roommates who look for love in Manhattan while also trying to avoid the urge to suck the blood of their suitors.

The rules for how a vampire lives, eats and sleeps are different for each and every story told about them. But when creating her own vampire universe, Heckerling turned to the classics for inspiration.

"What I liked was in Bram Stocker's 'Dracula'," she says. "I feel like he laid out a nice history and set of rules. But then the Anne Rice situation of 'Interview with the Vampire' — the main character did not have to kill people. For me, I think people are sympathetic if you don't kill people. It's just a quirk of mine. I went with [the idea] that they needed warm running blood from a mammal. These girls were trying to be nice and do as little harm as possible."

What's next?

▶ Heckerling is currently working on adapting her 1995 comedy "Clueless" into a Broadway musical.

As for explaining why these fictional creatures have been so popular, Heckerling has a simple, sensible answer:

"I don't find it surprising in the world where people in their 30s, 40s and 50s [who are] obsessed with extending the 20s forever would be a society that would gravitate to vampires," she says. "How can you really keep it together forever? As far as mythology goes, vampires can!"

"I don't find it surprising in the world where people in their 30s, 40s and 50s [who are] obsessed with extending their 20s forever would be a society that would gravitate to vampires."

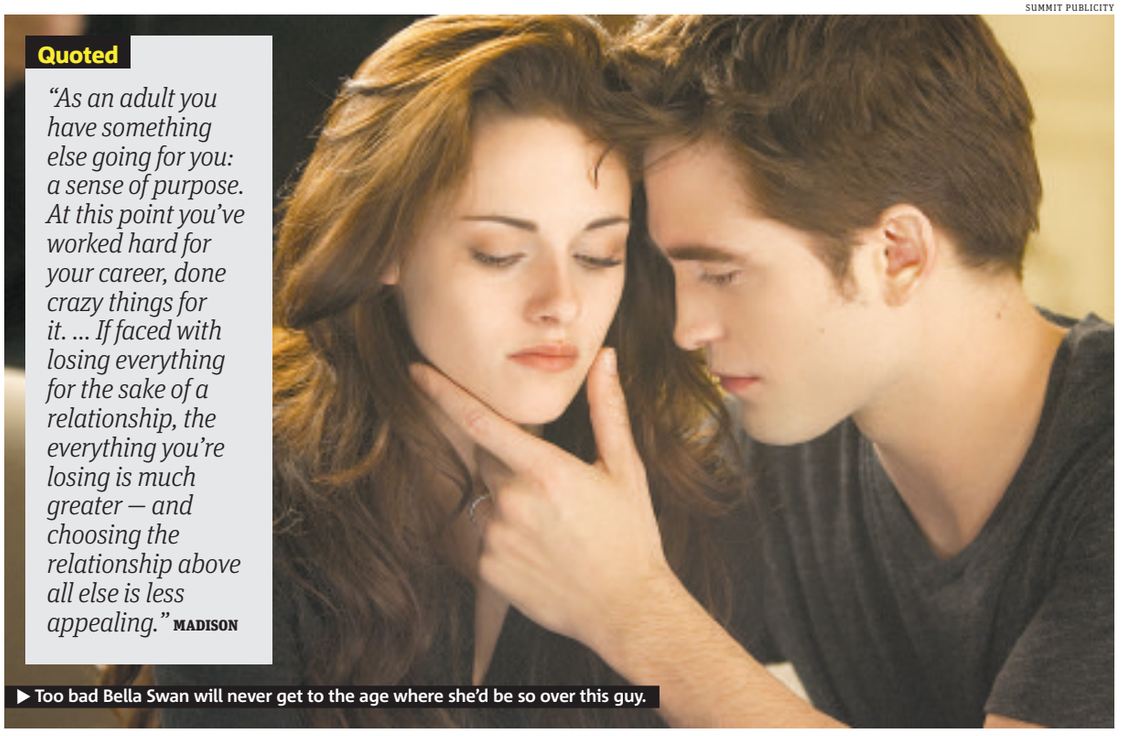
Why a 20-something Bella would never date Edward

SUMMIT PUBLICITY



Quoted

"As an adult you have something else going for you: a sense of purpose. At this point you've worked hard for your career, done crazy things for it. ... If faced with losing everything for the sake of a relationship, the everything you're losing is much greater — and choosing the relationship above all else is less appealing." MADISON

▶ Too bad Bella Swan will never get to the age where she'd be so over this guy.

The hookup

AMBER MADISON
WWW.AMBERMADISONONLINE.COM

Like many people, I went into "Twilight" expecting to hate it and came out of it addicted. Watching the series has been bittersweet, because as mentally stable adults we're just not capable of loving that desperately. If Bella had met Edward in her 20s, there's no way she would have been willing to risk everything and turn herself into a vampire so she could be with him. With more experience, she would have rationally concluded their lives were on different trajectories and opted to move on.

After living through the breakup of your first love, your entire perspective changes. It's not the ending of the relationship that jades you as much as the realization that you can get over it. You thought the world was going to end … but it didn't. And with this knowledge, love becomes a choice instead of a compulsion — because if you fall in love with someone who's bad for you, you know that walking away is actually an option.

As an adult you have something else going for you too: a sense of purpose. At this point you've worked hard for your career, done crazy things for it — like resisted punching your jerky boss in the face, left your friend's birthday party early because you wanted to be "on" the next day or accepted crap pay because something was a "good opportunity." If faced with losing everything for the sake of a relationship, the everything you're losing is much greater — and choosing the relationship above all else is less appealing.

Just like how "Fifty Shades of Grey" allows women everywhere to fantasize about S&M sexcapades they probably wouldn't enjoy in real life, "Twilight" has let us fantasize about a love that's probably too irrational for this stage in our development. When we love now, we know the person we care for so deeply doesn't actually have the wisdom of two lifetimes, run at the speed of light and have skin that sparkles in the sun. As amazing as he seems to us, he is merely human. Knowing this allows our love to have boundaries — which, for our sanity and safety, is a good thing.

HOW CHEESY MUSIC = GREAT SEX

The science of songs: As new research reveals the importance of music in our love lives, we look at how the songs we listen to can make the good things in life even more pleasurable

BRAND X PICTURES

▶ It's "The Look of Love"!

It appears that when it comes to romance, music can be used as form of brainwashing. The songs you choose are just a subtle way to suggest and initiate sex.

Music psychologist Dr. Daniel Müllensiefen, from Goldsmiths, University of London, discovered that music was a key element of the seduction game and consequently, how successful you are in the bedroom. The playlist you listen to in the moments leading to and during sex is crucial. Forty percent of people admitted that the music they listened to during sex was more arousing than the touch or feel of their partner.

Time of your life

Although both sexes favored songs that were happy and tender, men tend to make more of an effort to adjust to the taste of their date in order to ensure success in the bedroom. This could explain why the soundtrack from the iconic '80s romantic movie "Dirty Dancing" was voted as best for sex. It's not just the music that's important, but what we associate with the songs. Dr. Müllensiefen observed: "Music activates emotional pleasure centers in the brain — the same areas that are activated when we have sex or take drugs. If you have a soundtrack to a film that as a whole is associated with romance and sex, that might work for the entire sexual episode. Listening to the soundtrack re-ignites the feelings we experienced whilst watching the film."

The vocals

But it's not just what we associate the song with that's important in the bedroom — individual vocals play a part, too:

"People have a sort of emotional intelligence with music," explains Dr. Müllensiefen. "When it comes to getting in the mood for sex, people tend to go for relaxed songs with little use of vocal vibrato and with a greater dynamic range,'" says Dr. Müllensiefen.

So fire up that Spotify playlist, doc. Let's get it on.

A little less about Kool-Aid, a little more real thinking

RE: "LOOK AT THE REAL RICH AND POWERFUL" (METRO, NOV. 14) Instead of promoting anger and talking about someone's Kool-Aid or who "hates," let's look at the historical record and how we can do better. The middle class has stagnated. Our jobs have been shipped abroad. Most income growth as gone to the top. In 2012, Wall Street supported the GOP, not the Dems.

Ten right-wing billionaires and the corporations they control support the GOP for every billionaire supporting Dems. We elect people to Congress, but they stop working for us and start working for banks and corporations. How can we fix that? HARRY THORN, VIA E-MAIL

You wanted it — now you've got to keep the agreement

You people realize that President Obama is not really proposing a tax increase on people with an income of over $250,000 — right? What President Obama is proposing is a tax cut for the middle class.

This so-called tax increase that the Republicans have gotten their minions up in arms about is a tax cut that G.W. Bush signed that was supposed to last only 10 years. After the 10 years, it was suppose to go away. EVERYONE AGREED TO THIS. But now the upper 5 percent is demanding that they get to keep it forever. The health of the country be damned — because as we have learned (the hard way) during Reagan's and Bush's administrations "trickle down" economy DOES NOT WORK. In both cases it lead to a recession. So people — step back, take a deep breath and stick to what you agreed to. BARBARA MILUSKI, VIA E-MAIL

Some people spell 'doom' as 'G - O - P'

RE: "CIVILIZATION FALLS WHEN MORALS EXILED" (METRO, NOV. 13) Letter writer Richard M. Sawicki is absolutely right when he says "those who don't learn from history are usually doomed to repeat it. But the "lesson" that this election will ultimately teach us is that people learned from the history of the Bush administration and chose to go the way of progress, equality and truth. Thus, avoiding the "doom" of another Republican administration. ROBERT LA ROSA, VIA E-MAIL

May the best party always win

RE: "LOOK TO THE REAL RICH AND POWERFUL" (METRO, NOV. 14) Letter writer Cheryl Carroll appears to have missed a few civics classes. The Democratic Party has the power it does by winning elections, doing so by running better campaigns and showing they can govern in the interests of the country. Are they or our democracy perfect? By no means. But claiming they're "the lowest of the low" when we were treated nonstop to a year of outright lies by the GOP smacks of the same delusion that drove the Romney campaign into the ground. JOSEPH CONNELL, VIA E-MAIL

Horoscope

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. The probability of making a breakthrough on a recent project is exceptionally good. However, it's smart to keep this matter confidential.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. If you find yourself in a position where you can help guide a friend through an awkward maze, don't wait to be asked — especially if you see your pal making avoidable mistakes.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. An opportunity might arise that would enable you to be of assistance to someone you could easily help. If you don't do so, sadly, chances are it'll be for some selfish reason.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Your powers of observation are especially keen, and you will easily spot errors in others' methods. Find an opening to correct them without appearing to be a know-it-all.

♈ Aries March 21-April 19. You could get a lot more accomplished if you are willing to cooperate with your colleagues. You'll quickly discover that they'll pull for you when you pull for them.

♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Before doing any work for another, get a firm commitment on what your prospective employer is willing to pay. Chances are, the bigger the reward, the better job you'll do.

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. You'll instinctively treat everyone as an equal and, since most people hold you in high esteem, they'll take it as a huge compliment.

♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. This is a good day to take on some tasks that you know you should have attended to by now but have been neglecting. Once they're done, it'll be a huge load off your back.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. Try to set aside some time to spend with someone you like but haven't seen much of lately. It'll prove to be a happy event, but more importantly, you could learn something quite valuable.

♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Some kind and generous behavior you display to others could turn out to be of tremendous personal benefit in the long run. It pays to be a giver.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. The major reason why your words carry more weight than usual is that they will not only come straight from the heart but will have a strong ring of sincerity as well.

PIE & MIGHTY

- Don't get us wrong — we love apple pie just as much as the next person
- But for a new treat, pick up one of these unconventional Thanksgiving desserts
- Order early (like today) to ensure a guaranteed sweet ending

No Thanksgiving dinner is complete without pie. Duh. But next week, may we suggest ditching the typical pumpkin, pecan and apple flavors? This year, how about cinnamon bun pie? Chocolate and peanut butter? Maybe black-bottom pecan, instead? Whatever your choice, your family and friends will love you for it. And if not, switch back to apple next year.

Peanut Butter Pie from Dinosaur Bar-B-Que
700 W. 125th St.
212-694-1777
www.dinosaurbarbque.com
Made with an Oreo cookie crust, cream cheese and peanut butter, and garnished with chopped peanuts, Dinosaur's sweet, rich Peanut Butter Pie is nothing if not decadent. $30, and the pie can be sliced for 8-10 servings or can be ordered uncut (24 hours in advance)

Pear-Apple-Cranberry Pie from Black Hound
Black Hound, 170 Second Ave., 212-979-9505, www.blackhoundny.com
Packed with Bartlett pears, Granny Smith apples, dried cranberries, anise and spices in a lattice-top cookie dough crust, Black Hound's Pear-Apple-Cranberry Pie is pretty perfect. A safe bet for tough crowds, Black Hound's pies are made with a cookie dough crust — slightly sweet and subtly nontraditional. $23 (6-inch), $32 (9-inch).

Cinnamon Bun Pie from Momofuku Milk Bar
Momofuku Milk Bar multiple locations
www.milkbarstore.com
The best thing about Momofuku's Cinnamon Bun Pie is that it doubles as a breakfast pastry the next morning. (Yes, you will want it twice in 12 hours.) From the mind of Christina Tosi comes this holiday creation, made with sweet bread crust and layers of brown sugar, brown butter and cheesecake filling, topped with a cinnamon-oat streusel and drizzled with melted brown butter. $44

Black Bottom Pecan Pie from Magnolia Bakery
Magnolia Bakery, multiple locations, www.magnoliabakery.com
Best known for their cupcakes (and buttercream frosting!), it only make sense that Magnolia Bakery has created an even sweeter version of pecan pie. Theirs, the Black Bottom Pecan Pie, takes the pecan filling and mixes it with chocolate, then bakes it into a homemade crust. $30

Salty Honey Pie from Four and Twenty Blackbirds
439 Third Ave., Gowanus
718-499-2917
www.birdsblack.com
Emily Elsen, one half of the uberpopular Four and Twenty Blackbirds, calls their Salty Honey Pie "very popular and definitely unique." Made with sweet honey custard and sprinkled with sea salt flakes, the popularity is a (borderline addictive) slice of gooey bliss. $35, whole pies available on a first-come, first-serve basis.

- Leave it to Pichet Ong to put his sweet spin on the pecan pie at Sugar and Plumm. "I love pecan pie and I love chocolate pie," he says. "Here is a mash-up pie of both — gooey honey and caramelized brown sugar filling, lots of nuts and chunks of chocolate that melts when warmed up." $32 at Sugar and Plumm, 377 Amsterdam Ave., 212-787-8778, Sugarandplumm.com
- From pastry chef Sharon Robinson, Great Performance's White Chocolate Pumpkin Pie is anything but ordinary. $24, www.greatperformances.com

Cocktail recipe:
Thanksgiving in a cup

- 1 oz Appleton Estate Reserve
- 1 oz Appleton Estate 12 Year Old
- .75oz Faretti Biscotti Liqueur
- 1 Heaping bar spoon of pumpkin pie mix
- ½ oz heavy cream
- 1 whole egg

Directions: Place all ingredients into a mixing glass. Dry shake (shake without ice so as to whip the ingredients together). Then shake again with ice. Strain into an empty rocks glass and top with freshly grated cinnamon.

Thanksgiving

Flip your kitchen the bird

Not in the mood to cook this year? Or worse, burnt the turkey at the 11th hour? We've got you covered.

David Burke Kitchen (23 Grand St., 212-201-9119) has some whimsical offerings, including scallop and butternut chowder, roasted organic turkey with black pepper cranberry, vanilla bean sweet potato puree, sausage chestnut stuffing and giblet gravy. Do yourself a favor and save room for dessert: "Top Chef" star and executive pastry chef Zac Young is throwing a Pie-a-Palooza, featuring roasted pumpkin with toasted marshmallow, Mitsu apple with cheddar crust, cranberry orange and deep-fried chocolate bourbon pecan. $65 per person

Steps away from the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade route is Aureole (1 Bryant Park, 212-319-1660), where chef Marcus Gleadow Ware is preparing a traditional bird with all the fixings, plus wild mushroom risotto and Maine lobster, in case turkey's not your thing. $115 for adults, $55 for children

Il Buco Alimentari & Vineria (53 Great Jones St., 212-837-2622) is hosting a five-course family-style Thanksgiving dinner featuring two types of turkey and — get ready — sweet potatoes roasted under porchetta drippings. $85 for adults, $55 for children

Chef Chris D'Amico is serving butternut squash soup, turkey with all the trimmings and chestnut bread pudding at Gemma (335 Bowery, 212-505-7300). $65 p.p., or $89 with wine pairings

The bird at Reynard (80 Wythe Ave., 718-460-8006), the trendy eatery at the Wythe Hotel in Williamsburg, will be accompanied by "a cornucopia of vegetable side dishes." How festive! Desserts like candied pumpkin-seed brittle will be served family-style. $85 p.p.

Back Forty (190 Ave. B, 212-388-1990) is serving a three-course meal of turkey with sides like roasted sunchokes with garlic. Vegetarians can dig into roasted delicata squash stuffed with barley. $60 for adults, $40 for children

Tuck into brown butter sweet potato soup, roasted local turkey with chestnut stuffing, spiced yams and pumpkin chestnut bread pudding at Perilla (9 Jones St., 212-929-6868). $75 p.p.

International delights

The menu is Italian at the Maritime's La Bottega (88 Ninth Ave., 212-243-8400), where chef Bart Retolatto has put together dishes like crab-stuffed cremini mushrooms and roasted Cornish game hen. $45 p.p. prix fixe, or available a la carte

French accents gussy up Thanksgiving at new bistro La Villette (10 Downing St., 212-255-033). Have your pick of seafood or salad for a first course, followed by a traditional turkey dinner or salmon or steak frites. Round it out with a slice of pumpkin pie or creme brulee. And sweet deal: Your meal comes with a complimentary glass of wine. $49 p.p.

For a Spanish twist on dinner, Cadaques (188 Grand St., Brooklyn, 718-218-7776) is serving its turkey with figs and jamon iberico. You'll also find Serrano ham croquettes on the menu. $45 p.p.

HARIS/WWW.PROTECHNYC.COM

Chicken Kiev is an option on the prix fixe menu at FireBird.

Enjoy a three-course prix fixe Russian meal at FireBird (365 W. 46th St., 212-586-0244), featuring entrees like lobster Versasia with avocado butter, lemon citronade, tamarind and wild watercress. There's also a turkey with dill corn-bread stuffing, plus (yum alert) hazelnut bread pudding with white chocolate and honey vodka caramel sauce. $70 p.p.

Thanksgiving traditionals are given an Italian twist at Asellina (420 Park Ave. South, 212-317-2908), where turkey Saltimbocca and sweet potato panna cotta are on the a-la-carte menu.

Drinks

Tips for your tea

If you're more the type who chooses an Earl Grey over a latte, check out these tips from Tetley — now celebrating its 175th anniversary — on how to properly enjoy your tea.

▶ Black tea and black-based tea blends are typically the only ones served with milk.
▶ Rather than stirring tea, the correct way to incorporate milk is to place the teaspoon in the 6 o'clock position in the cup and gently fold the milk from 6 o'clock to 12 o'clock.
▶ Never leave the spoon in the mug or in an iced tea glass; remove it and set it on a plate or napkin
▶ Milk, rather than cream, is preferred, so as not to overpower the flavor of the tea.
▶ Though some add the milk before the tea, adding it after the tea is poured ensures that the right amount is added.
▶ Sugar should be added after milk; one to two teaspoons is the standard amount.
▶ Though a practice of many, it is not the correct etiquette to wrap the string of the tea bag around the spoon and squeeze. The bag should be removed and set aside.
▶ Though most tea today is drank from mugs, if you're using a traditional tea cup, you should never loop your finger through the handle. Instead, grasp it with your thumb and first two fingers. Holding the pinkie up helps balance the cup to avoid spills. METRO/ME

Tea in NYC

Where to locally indulge in a cuppa:

▶ David's Tea: The specialty retailer, which offers 150 varieties of tea, already has shops on Bleecker Street and the Upper East Side, and it's now opened new locations in Chelsea (688 Sixth Ave.) and Park Slope (234 Seventh Ave.).
▶ Le Palais des Thes' first U.S. brick-and-mortar shop is opening Thursday at 194 Columbus Ave., with another to follow at 156 Prince St. before the end of the year.

Le Palais des Thes gets creative with its containers.

Songza thanks

— Songza is a streaming platform that mines years of music history and today's music blogs for the best gems, so you don't have to. The company, which calls itself a music concierge service, offers thousands of expertly curated playlists for free on the Web, iPhone and iPad. Each week Metro teams up with Songza to bring you fun new playlists as you enter into the weekend.

You're hosting Thanksgiving, and you got everything squared away with the turkey and your semi-reliable cousin is in charge of stuffing, but you totally forgot to put together a playlist. Don't worry. The folks at Songza have got you covered with An Acoustic Thanksgiving, which you can find online at www.metro.us/songza and www.songza.com/listen/an-acoustic-thanksgiving-songza. It's nearly seven hours of warm, rootsy acoustic music to get cozy with, including songs like "If You Gonna Go" by Frazey Ford, "Guinnevere" by Crosby, Stills & Nash and a number of tunes by the late Townes Van Zandt (pictured).

Hunter signs

Yankees fans hoping to add Torii Hunter to right field will have to look elsewhere.

The nine-time Gold Glove winner signed with the Tigers yesterday for two years and $26 million. Hunter said he planned to sign quickly, and he did, becoming the first noteworthy signing of the offseason.

The Yankees don't appear likely to re-sign Nick Swisher and will need an outfielder. METRO

C.Y. DICKEY

Mets pitcher wins Cy Young over Dodgers' Kershaw Team gets some good news after a season of failure First Met to take honor since Doc

R.A. Dickey is already a best-selling co-author of an autobiography, a star of a documentary and a 20-game winner for a Mets team that finished under .500 for the fourth straight season.

Now Dickey can add Cy Young Award winner to his feel-good season, as he became the first knuckleballer to win the honor by convincingly beating Clayton Kershaw and Gio Gonzalez.

"Man, I'm kind of speechless, believe it or not, in the moment. It's a real honor," Dickey told MLB Network. "Obviously, being mentioned in the same breath as some of the greatest pitchers, not only in the history, but this year — Clayton and Gio were both supernatural in the way they performed. I've had to hit against them, and it's ridiculous trying to pick up the ball on those guys. They gave everybody fits, so just being mentioned in the same breath is a real honor."

"I congratulate him on his tenacity not only to succeed against all odds, but to excel and achieve this very high honor."
TOM SEAVER, METS PITCHER

Dickey received 27 of 32 first-place votes for 209 points, while Kershaw received two first-place votes and 96 points. Gonzalez, who led the NL with 21 victories, received one first-place vote and 93 votes.

Dickey became the first Met to win since Dwight Gooden's 24-4 season won him the award in 1985. He also joined Hall of Famer Tom Seaver, who won the award in 1969, 1973 and 1975.

Tim Tebow, Jets address criticism

Tim Tebow stayed above the fray yesterday following a Daily News story in which an unnamed teammate called him "terrible" and another implied he was an "athlete" and not a quarterback.

"Some frustration, some sadness. It is never fun to hear criticism, but at the same time it is something that I've always used as motivation and you try to get stronger from it. That's how I approach it," Tebow said. "I always find the good and positive in every situation, and the positive in this is to work a little harder, improve and build better relationships with your teammates."

For head coach Rex Ryan, the bigger issue was not the comments themselves but the anonymous nature of the quotes, even calling them "cowardly" at one point.

"If you're going to make a negative comment, that's fine," Ryan said. "We don't say it always has to be a bed of roses. Again, put your name to it and all that. I think people will respect you a lot more."

Are you experiencing any of these symptoms?
- Lack of energy/fatigue
- Decreased sexual drive, and/or erectile problems
- Depression and/or anxiety
- Decrease in strength and/or endurance

These symptoms may be caused by low testosterone. This can become more common in men as they get older.

We are conducting a clinical research study to see if a topical investigational testosterone medication can effectively increase testosterone and may alleviate these symptoms

You may qualify to participate if you are a man between the ages of 18 and 75 and have, or think you may have low testosterone.

All study-related care and medication will be provided at no cost. Insurance not needed.

Knicks face first tests on road trip

The Knicks are the only remaining unbeaten team, but other than beating the defending-champion Heat in the season opener, they've feasted on also-rans.

If they want to flex their muscles and show they're elite, they need to beat the next two road opponents — the Spurs (7-1) and the Grizzlies (5-1).

ON TV TONIGHT

Knicks at Spurs
8:30 p.m., MSG

Put bluntly, New York still has a ways to go before the naysayers believe the hype.

Knicks' forward Steve Novak admitted as much, saying that while the fast start is great they haven't done anything truly of note yet.

"We just don't put too much stock into it," Novak said. "We know we're the only undefeated team and we hear all that, but it's just so early, and we all know what a long year it is."

Head coach Mike Woodson acknowledged his squad needs to do the little things to beat contenders like the Spurs.

"Road wins are tough to get, so you have to be really locked in and focused as a unit. You can't turn it over offensively and you have to play at a high level defensively," said Woodson. "All those things have to happen for us to be successful for us to win on the road."
